Thirty Seconds To Mars are now a Guinness World Record Breaking Band!!

MARS hit 300 shows at the Hammerstein Ballroom in New York City on December 7th, confirming them as the new holders of the record for most shows performed during a single album cycle ("This Is War"). The band has been on tour for two years. From Guinness World Records: Jared has said of the award: "We have been on the road for an incredible and insane two years and thought what better way to celebrate the end of this phenomenal journey than with a week of special shows in New York City. He continued: "We thought documenting this for posterity with Guinness World Records would be fun especially as we aren't any good at growing our fingernails very long or cultivating the world's largest squash".
